Dear Hiring Manager

I am writing to express my enthusiastic interest in the Data Analyst Internship position at Discovery, as advertised on LinkedIn. With a strong passion for data analysis and hands-on experience in agile environments and data management tools, I am excited about the opportunity to contribute to your team.

Currently, I am in my final year studying Software Development at Tshwane University of Technology and am completing my Work Integrated Learning (WILL) program at ICEP, which will conclude at the end of 2024. My academic background, combined with practical experience in an agile setting, has equipped me with a solid foundation in data analysis and project management.

During my time at ICEP, I have gained valuable experience using Miro for collaborative work and MySQL for database management. I am adept at executing CRUD operations and have a proven track record of cleaning and analysing data using Excel, where I handled large datasets and created detailed system documents. Additionally, my recent Scrum training has provided me with a robust understanding of agile methodologies, which I have applied effectively in my projects.

I am particularly excited about the opportunity at Discovery due to your commitment to leveraging data to drive innovation and provide insightful solutions. I am confident that my skills in data management, combined with my passion for data analysis and experience in agile environments, make me a strong candidate for this role. I am eager to leverage my background and contribute to your team's success while continuing to grow my skills in a professional setting.

Thank you for considering my application. I look forward to the opportunity to discuss how my background, skills, and enthusiasm align with the needs of your team. Please feel free to contact me at 0716463291 or jacqualinematabane@gmail.com to arrange a convenient time for an interview.

Sincerely,

Jacoline Matabane
